

For I Am that Song

1. In a song am I with you, as you sing it deep in your heart, in the words as they touch you and become your own;
when you feel so alive,
overflowing with joy,
or when your day is clouded with pain: let the light now rising shine and be free to sing. Refrain

Refrain:

I am that song
and I sing in your life,
and you are known to me
as you sing along.
For I am that song
and I sing in your life,
and you are known to me as you sing along. (Repeat 2x after last verse) as you sing along, sing along. (ending)

2. With the struggle of the many to be free, with dignity, in their labors producing fruits of the earth:
I can hear their cries
of hunger and fear,
all the heavy burdens greed demands.
And I bear, with pain, the injustice of their life. Refrain 3. Now the world is keenly threatened by the thirst of the mighty for arms, which can devastate all life and the beauty we have known.
But the hope which prophets' voice wakens in those listening is a light which stirs our courage to choose between death and life for each other, so that the children may live. Refrain
